VOL. XXXII ALBANY, CALIFORNIA Wednesday, August 30, 1967 150 NUMBER 51

ACCIDENT PRONE—A week or so ago, we had an item about a tot who had a bee in his mouth. He's back in the news and the same police officer, Gerald Martin, is the reporter. Last Friday he was at the emergency desk at Herrick hospital when the mother brought eight-month-old Troy Anderson in. "What now?" Martin inquired, noting the baby still seemed happy. Well, THIS time the little boy had eaten a diaper pail deordorant tablet! Troy and his mother, Carolyn Anderson, live at 1111 Marin.

BOB AND JEANETTE DENNIS left the Art Show Friday evening to get their car parked in Portland. They were chatting as they got in and started off, which to their surprise a man hailed them down. Calmly and politely, he informed them they were driving away in HIS car, same year, same make, same color as the Dennis vehicle. What puzzled the red-faced Bob, however, was that his key fit the other lock. As the Dennises were thinking (slanking?) to their own car, some teenagers who had seen and heard all said, "If we'd done that, they'd have sent us to juvenile hall!"

TOM CONROY says they were expecting Chief Ralph Jensen as a speaker at a meeting at Rossmoor in Walnut Creek one day last week. The chief called to say he was sick in bed and could not appear. Conroy said, "I was awfully tempted to, but didn't, ask him if he had a BUG."

JAYCEES AND JAYCEETTES much in evidence throughout the Art Show, had plenty to do but took time out Sunday evening to help Margo Clarity celebrate her birthday.

BACK AT CITY HALL on Monday of this week were City Clerk Myrtle McLean and Deputy Electrical Inspector Bill Stahlberg. Mrs. McLean has been on sick leave for six weeks. Stahlberg was hospitalized at Alameda hospital. Also on deck after a week at home with a virus is Police Chief Ralph Jensen.

IF NAMES MAKE news, how about Dusty and Muddy Rhodes, a San Pablo couple who displayed handcrafted jewelry at the Art Show?

CONGRESSMAN COEHELAN SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

Congressman Cohelan

"Whither American Foreign Policy?" will be the subject of a major address by Congressman Jeffrey Cohelan in Albany on Wednesday, Aug. 30. The program, which will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Albany High school Little Theater, 603 Key Route Boulevard, Albany, is sponsored by the Albany Democratic club.

Congressman Cohelan will speak on the background and future of American Foreign Policy in Vietnam, the Middle East and Latin America. As Congressman from the 7th Congressional District since his election in 1958, he has served on the House Armed Services Committee and is presently a member of the House Appropriations Committee.

Tim Fine, president of the Albany Democratic club, emphasized the importance of this public meeting as an opportunity for all concerned citizens to meet their Congressman to ask questions and discuss the issues which are most vital to Americans' future.

Early Deadlines For Next Issue

Although the Times will be delivered as usual next Wednesday, early deadlines have been set in order to allow the staff to enjoy Labor Day.

News and pictures must be submitted by 5 p.m. Thursday; display ads by noon Saturday; classified ads, 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Folk Sing-In Is Today!

The Dinosaur Book Diner club will be the guests of the Albany Public Library this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the patio adjoining the Library at a Folk Sing-In.

The foot stompin', knee slappin' program is under the direction of Don Dupin from the Albany Recreation Center.

All the elementary school children who have chewed their way through books during the summer are invited to the party which will end with a refreshing refreshment surprise.

Come and have fun!

COMPLETES COURSE

Private David M. Logan, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin M. Logan, 604 San Carlos Ave., Albany, completed a small arms repair course July 25 at the Army Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. His wife, Bondy, lives at 1520 Kains Ave., Berkeley.

Goodyear To Build In Albany

Goodyear Tire and Rubber company has received the green light from Albany Planning and Zoning commission to construct a service store at 435 San Pablo Ave., the site previously approved for a convalescent home.

The company has not yet applied for a building permit, Administrative Officer James B. Turner said Monday.

W. F. Newberry, real estate manager for Goodyear in Los Angeles, said the building will face on San Pablo Avenue and have fronts on both Brighton and Kains. P&Z approval was unanimous.

Registration Dates Set Up For Albany Public Schools

Pupils new to the Albany schools should pre-register starting Tuesday, Aug. 29. Albany High school, Marin, and Cornell school offices will be open from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Vista school will handle registrations in the morning only and MacGregor in the afternoon only.

All new children from University Village will be registered at Cornell school. School officials strongly urge that all new kindergarten children be registered at this time so that adequate facilities can be provided and delays in attendance be eliminated.

New kindergarten youngsters must be five years of age on or before Dec. 2 of this year (1967). Parents should bring child's birth certificate, evidence of polio immunization, both of which are legal requirements, and be prepared to fill out health forms.

Questions concerning registration procedures can be answered by calling the school administration offices, 526-6441. Regular school classes for all Albany children will start on Monday, Sept. 11.

Rick Strini, Wendy Ward Booth Win '67 Art Show Trophies

Rick Strini, a glass blower and potter, received the Ellis-Olson trophy for best artist and the best booth trophy, also presented by the mortuary, went to Wendy Ward of Montgomery Ward, Richmond, for the annual Albany Arts, Crafts and Hobby Festival last weekend.

Both trophies were awarded during closing ceremonies Sunday evening by William A. Johnson, president of the sponsoring Albany Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce once again purchased $200 worth of art for the new Civic Center. Purchases include four paintings, "Fish Fantasy" by Joyce Burr, $100; "Three Sails" by F. A. Milovich, $40; "Spring Flowers" by Jackie Stevens, $20; and "Evening Sunset" by Frank Sakamoto, $20. Also to be presented to the city are a candle tree by Betty Parker, $12; vase by Strini, $6, and two God eyes by Lee Kiesel, $2.

A six-month supply of laundry compound offered by Amway Home Products was won by Retha C. Labbell of 121A 9th St. Edith Sheriff of 700 Washington, Albany, won the rock tumbler from S. E. Landon (Slik Lapidary Equipment). Albany Temple Boosters, who awarded a transistor radio, announce the winner is Alice Barkes of 716 Gateview.

Cochairmen for the show, Dr. Arthur Longpre, Johnson and Neal Clarity, said the new circular format pleased artists and exhibitors this year. It may be changed somewhat, but it has worked out more satisfactorily than any arrangement in the past five years.

"Some people said the show seemed smaller than in other years," Doctor Longpre said, "but we had as many booths as ever. It was compact and easy to visit all the booths."

Albany had its share of dignitaries at the show. Congressman and Mrs. Jeffery Cohelan spent several hours renewing acquaintances Sunday. Senator Lewis F. Sherman and Mrs. John J. Miller (representing her Assemblyman husband, who could not attend) participated in opening ceremonies Friday night. Mayor Richard O. Clark, who had a booth for New York Life Insurance company, was on the grounds almost all the time and introduced the congressman on Sunday from the stage. Councilman H. F. Call participated in opening ceremonies and provided merchandise for two successful auctions conducted by Albany Jaycees.

A new group appeared as part of the entertainment this year—the Noteworthy Seniors, who earned themselves a permanent spot as long as they wish to participate. Back again was Mary Culley with her adorable three toy poodles, Cozy, Toe Tweet and Sweet Stuff. Wendy Ward (Rondi Erickson) presented two teen fashion shows and The Ultimate, a local teen band, played for the young people on Friday night, sponsored by Michael Fahmie of Michael's Liquors.

An innovation this year was the pancake breakfast Sunday morning sponsored by the Albany Republican Assembly. They report an excellent crowd attended the affair.

Albany Little League, according to reports, ran out of both hamburger and hot dogs early Sunday evening. The Girl Scouts, which had a popular Win a Gold-

Dagna's Offering Master Credit Card for Groceries

Joe Dagna has announced that Dagna's Market will offer credit card groceries under the Master Charge program.

Dagna said, "So many other things are being charged, it was only natural that groceries would be next. There is no charge to us and the customer has the privilege and convenience of a charge account."

Cost to the customer will be at least 25 cents per purchase to $8.48 or less or three per cent of the total of anything above that.

Master Charge is the program of 73 banks which formed the California Bankcard association to issue charge cards to bank customers. Some 73,000 retail businesses are signed up in the program. First cards were distributed in July.

Groceries are the only businesses allowed to pass on the cost of the charge to the customer according to Master Charge rules. Other retail businesses have to absorb the cost. Because of the small profit margin on groceries, grocers are allowed to pass the cost, Dagna said.

Dagna said he is proud to be the first grocery store in Albany to initiate the Master Charge plan. "For a slight service charge (no hidden charges), customers may buy groceries now and pay later. They can stock up on specials every week without having to wait for payday."

Council To Continue Study Of Property Transfer Tax

Following a two-hour public hearing on the proposed property transfer tax, Albany City Councilmen Monday night voted to continue studying the measure in order to make it more palatable to more people.

About 30 representatives of Berkeley Realty Board were in the audience and several spoke against the proposal, which they described as discriminatory, a hardship to older people on fixed incomes, inequitable and the possible straw that would break the camel's back.

Administrative Officer James B. Turner, using a chart, explained that tentative plans involve a $25 tax to $10,000 and .2 of one percent or $2 per thousand above the first $10,000. He said most transactions would involve from $25 to $55. Larger transactions could involve as much as $205.

$11,000 Expected

This direct Albany tax, Turner said, is expected to produce about $11,000 in added revenue.

The last state legislature passed SB 837, which awaits the Governor's signature, Turner said. This permissive legislation, provided the federal government ceases to collect for revenue stamps on real estate transfers, would enable counties to impose a real estate property transfer tax equal to current charges for revenue stamps. If both occur, cities may impose a transfer tax equal to half the amount of revenue stamps. The cities' portion would be deducted from the county share.

Charter cities such as Albany, however, may impose a transfer tax not in conformity with SB 837. Under these circumstances, counties would collect the full amount of transfer tax they impose and the city would be responsible for its own collection.

If three things happen—the Governor signs the bill, Federal stamps lapse and the County imposes a transfer tax—anticipated revenue would be only $2,500 to $3,500, far below the $11,000 expected from the Albany tax.

Not Bitter

Although several members of the audience criticized real estate people for "harpooning" and "harping" at the Council, the hearing was not bitter and was one of the most productive in recent months.

Council thanked those who came and who spoke.

Realtor Jerome Blank, former Albany mayor and councilman, congratulated Councilmen for maintaining the traditional low Albany property tax rate. He said he realizes the city needs new forms of revenue, but he does not approve the property transfer tax, which he said is one more tax instead of broadening the tax base.

"If we could be guaranteed the tax would remain $25 forever, we would not be here tonight," Blank said. ". . . Some future City

Other Council Business

Two presentations were made to Albany City Council Monday night.

Joe Dagna, representing Albany Chamber of Commerce, introduced the artists and presented the pieces of art selected for the Civic Center at the weekend Arts, Crafts and Hobby Festival. This is the second year the Chamber of Commerce has purchased art work for the city. (See Art Show story for additional details.)

Robert Kunkel of the Berkeley office of California State Automobile association presented the city with a Pedestrian Safety Award, noting there have been no pedestrian fatalities in Albany in four years, a particular credit to the Police Department.

Filed were letters from Lottie Moody Sanford, expressing appreciation for lowering the city tax rate, and from Eugene V. Waring, county auditor-controller, certifying the assessed valuation of the city.

A communication from Judith Cabral, secretary of the Traffic and Safety commission, was referred to Administrative Officer James B. Turner. It requested contacting El Cerrito with regard to the safety hazard at Key Route Blvd., and the El Cerrito city line and also suggested improved lighting, red reflectors and a sign, "Road Narrows."

An ordinance amending the zoning ordinance (see legals today) passed 5-0, as did two resolutions, one authorizing the mayor to sign an agreement with the county for library services, and the other authorizing execution of a contract with Williams Brothers for $15,037.75 (already paid by Bay Area Rapid Transit District) for gutters, curbs and other work on Masonic from Brighton to Solano.

Councilman Joe Carlevaro noted that he will be calling a meeting of the Sister City Committee, which includes Col. Sam Dows, Paul Rago, Mrs. Yvonne Walkup and a new member appointed Monday, Eleanore Miller. Mrs. Miller is anxious to have a Sister City in Japan, where the Live Wires will visit next September.

Mayor Richard Clark, Councilman H. F. Call and Dario Meniketti were lavish in their praise of the 1967 Art Show, a "real home type get-together with a wonderful feeling of closeness."

Meniketti called attention to the speech at Albany High school Little Theater tonight by Congressman Jeffery Cohelan (see separate story).

...ncil, not as prudent as you, to raise it."

More Study Urged

...nk urged further time and ...on the matter and waiting ... what the county does.

...eral Councilmen reminded ...ers that selling points for ...y homes involve the low ...erty tax rates, the good ...g, excellent police and fire ...ments and other city ...

...you can come up with a ...r plan (than property trans- ...tax), we'll listen," Council- ... Joe Carlevaro said.

On Ballot?

A man in the audience suggested putting the matter on the ballot because "it should be up to the people who will pay it."

When Anne Wise suggested that real estate people were at the hearing because the home owners, whom they represent, were not, Mayor Richard Clark said, "We represent the citizens as elected officials. Council takes on the responsibility for the homeowners as intelligent men. . . . We are a responsible body and apply that reasoning to the property transfer tax. We're running out of sources . . . we cannot keep having services unless we pay for them. . . ."

Dario Meniketti said, "As an Albany homeowner, I am proud of Albany. I work hard for Albany and I know you're doing your very best for the homeowners of Albany. . . ."

Who Pays?

Ralph Buckwalter urged everyone to go home and think of a constructive way to do something better. He asked who would pay the property transfer tax. He was told it would be agreed upon, that it is not directed to either buyer or seller by law.

Councilmen stressed the ever-increasing value of Albany homes. A house purchased in 1940 for about $3,500 would sell for perhaps $25,000 today. They said the property transfer tax of $55 on such a transaction is nothing compared to the sales tax paid on a new automobile, for example.

Councilman H. F. Call said, "I've never bought or sold a piece of property in Albany but what I made a nice profit. . . ." He said it is not fair that real estate people pay the same for a business license as the shoe shine boy on the corner.

Hearing Sept. 11

Councilman Lewis Howell added it is proper to increase the cost of business licenses because many small businesses do not pay their fair share. He listed a possible tax on the golf course plus gross income taxes on such places as the theater, bowling alley and car washes. A public hearing on this proposed increase is set for 8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 11.

"If we are sincere about wanting a low tax rate, it is up to all of us to put our shoulders to the wheel with each of us in the community being productive," Howell said.

Realtor Martha Jeans protested that the city has reduced its property taxes by 17 cents on one hand and put in a "hidden tax" on the other.

Jerry Talley said he feels real estate closing costs are "hidden."

Willis Beeson said he realizes the city needs money, urged Council to present a better idea or sell this idea some other way. He said the older people are very antagonistic toward a property transfer tax.

Objection

Mrs. Harry Blome complained of having to share the profit on their investment in an Albany home 30 years ago. She said they have been good citizens and paid for the education of other children, having none of their own. Their tax bill, city and county, in 1940-41, she said, was $99.35. For 1966-67, it was $409.22. "We pay $35 a month in taxes to live in our own home," she said, suggesting a poll tax on children.

Realtor Frank Ellsworth admitted he is "riled up" at the proposal. He said the Berkeley Realty Board got more than enough signatures to put the issue on the ballot in Berkeley after the Berkeley Council passed a similar ordinance.

"It's easier to get signatures in Albany," he said, adding the tax is inequitable because it is based on sales price and not on equity.

Ready to Fight

"Berkeley Realty Board is poised and ready to fight this issue," he warned.

Mayor Clark countered with, "As one salesman to another (the mayor sells life insurance) I do not believe either of us is paying his fair share. The Berkeley Realty Board does not run this local government. Until you are elected to this City Council, I don't care to hear about referendums. . . ."

Clark said the property tax is a regressive tax. AB 80, he said, increases the load on the residential property owner and decreases the load on business/commercial property owners. He said by decreasing property taxes in Albany this year, it is an incentive to both property owners and real estate interests.

Discrimination?

Real Estate Man Dennis Williams said Council should be sure the tax is not discriminatory in that one person will sell his home and another won't.

Clark said there now is discrimination in business licenses.

When asked if the proposed transfer tax would be discriminatory, City Attorney Larry Saler said it would not because it would affect everyone who sells property now or in the future.

Realtor Stan Young suggested a work session with Council, representatives of title companies and financial institutions and the Realty Board.

Mayor Clark said he will set a work session to discuss statements made at the hearing, stressing that all work sessions are open to the public. It was indicated several more hearings may be held.

Cars, lost his $40,000 home in El Cerrito via gas explosion and resulting fire Saturday. Fortunately, there were no injuries in the blast, which occurred when Tim and his brother were excavating a drainage ditch. From our standpoint, the most amazing thing about the blast was the fact that an Independent photographer, Bob Forsburg, was there with his camera and wound up with an amazing set of pictures.

FRIDAY NIGHT about 11 p.m., the Dan Moody family turned off the freeway, breathing collective sighs of relief because they had made it home from vacation without mishap. On the off-ramp to Cleveland, a bleeding man appeared. Dan screeched to a halt, told the man to get in for a quick trip to the police station, where an ambulance could take him for emergency treatment. The man explained there were five other injured fellows in a car that had missed the turn, hit several signs, gone through a chain link fence and wound up against the Southern Pacific railroad tracks. Virginia was kept busy putting her nursing training to good use as they started bringing the injured men up to the roadway. A driver who stopped was asked to notify Albany Police and Fire Department. Virginia learned one of the men was to have been married Saturday, that they had been to a bachelor party. Albany police ambulance took three men to the hospital. Berkeley police took the other three. Albany Fire department assisted in getting the men out of the car. Now the Moodys are wondering who they were and how they are, but there have been no news stories and Albany police didn't get the names because it was a California Highway Patrol case.

ALBANY CHAMBER of Commerce is planning to sponsor the Sweetest Day promotion again this year so be thinking about whom you will nominate for Sweetest Person in Albany. There were a few soreheads last year when their candidate was not selected. Hope everyone will be SWEET this year. It's no easy task to be judges of such a letter-writing contest.

fish booth, ran out of goldfish Sunday afternoon and closed shop.

Others who reported a land-office business were Kentucky Fried Chicken, which ran out repeatedly; Albany Democratic club, where crowds stood in line to toss rings at coins; Albany Women of the Moose, who offered Tic-Tac-Toe; the Forget-Me-Nots, who accepted the booth a few days before the show and offered Funny Face makeup; the Live Wires, who found many interested in joining the organization and at least one who signed up for the 1968 Trip to the Orient; Jayceettes, who sold corn on the cob and operated a machine for making abstract paintings, and the Jaycees, who braved the chilly weather in the dunking booth, a contest which created fun for the audience and funds for the Jaycees.

Artists and craftsmen were separated from the active booths this year and seemed pleased with the panel displays, which provided a welcome wind break. The weather was not exactly ideal, especially at night.

Chamber of Commerce officials believe that the show has finally "jelled" and is well on its way toward becoming an annual tradition in the city. Groups interested in booths for next year may make arrangements at any time by contacting the Chamber of Commerce office, 1108 Solano (525-1771).

Nitty Gritty Dirt Band at State Fair

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, latest teen-age sensations, have been signed to headline the first fiv days of the night show at the California State Fair, Aug. 30-Sept. 10.

The Nitty Grittys recapture the raucous world of the 1920's with music that blends with the Fair's theme, "Have a Blast with the Past."

Pin-striped, double-breasted suits with cowboy boots make up the attire of the six young men whose antics, and unusual music and singing have taken the nation's young set by storm.

Dick Van Dyke, appearing as master of ceremonies at a Dirt Band concert, probably made the best summation of the tremendous popularity and appeal of the group: "The worst thing I could do to a friend is to ask him on a program to perform following the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band. It's too bad we cannot communicate with the younger generation as well as they can communicate with us."

The program will begin at 8 p.m. nightly. Prices are $1.25 for adults, 50 cents for children 6-12 and under six free when accompanied by an adult. The gala fireworks display will follow.

IN VIETNAM

Radioman First Class Douglas R. Peterson, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Peterson of 992 Peralta Ave., Albany, is in waters off Vietnam aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Gresham.

Albany Parent Nursery Sets Registration

Fall registration dates for the Albany Village Parent Nursery school have been set for Sept. 7 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and Sept. 8 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

It will be held in the Community Center, located in the University Village, Eighth and Monroe Streets, Albany. This very excellent parent co-operative nursery school is open to Albany residents as well as those from the surrounding communities.

There are three programs, two, three and five day, which offer a variety of activities for the children, including cooking, carpentry, special art projects and some field trips.

Each mother is required to participate one day for every five that her child is enrolled. In addition, there are weekly Thursday night meetings where the parents have opportunities to hear speakers and discuss topics concerning pre-school children. This year they will have interest groups that will meet once a month.

Three tuition scholarships are awarded each semester based on financial needs to pre-kindergarten children whose fathers or mothers are students at the University of California at Berkely. Application should be made before registration in September.

Those interested in fall registration and/or further information on the school are urged to contact Nancy Coulter, 525-2483, or Laurie Hall, 527-1492.

Albany Man Invents Makeup Mirror

Joseph Bettencourt of 800 Pomona has had four heart attacks and is a victim of both Parkinsons disease and multiple sclerosis, yet he has applied for a patent on a new prescription lens and mirror for women who must wear glasses and can't see to apply eye makeup.

The lens and mirror, which will be about three inches in diameter and carried in the purse, should be in production in the next few months. They will be available from optometrists and should sell for $9.95, the inventor said.

Women who wear glasses have a difficult time plucking their eyebrows or applying eye makeup, Bettencourt said. This device will make it possible for them to see what they are doing. If the eyes are different, a larger mirror is being perfected. The Albany man has worked on the idea for about a year.

He formerly was an industrial engineer for Jacuzzi Brothers.

Stenoscript Offered Here

Students who need to learn shorthand, either for business advancement or personal note taking, will have an opportunity to examine an easy to learn system at the Albany Adult school starting on Sept. 12.

Stenoscript is a system of shorthand which uses only the familiar letters of the alphabet to make phonetic abbreviations or words and syllables. Because no symbols have to be memorized, the theory can be learned in only a few lessons. The remainder of the time is allocated to building speed and mastering office procedures.

Those who will profit by the course are students who have unsuccessfully attempted symbol shorthand or those who believe it too difficult, those who can afford to spend only one semester mastering the skill, housewives who must seek employment, business and professional men who want to gain note-taking skill and speed, college students, clubwomen and all others who find a need for making rapid notes.

The stenoscript class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7 to 10 p.m., at Albany High school. In addition to the above class, the Adult School will be offering a wide selection of additional business subjects including: typing, bookkeeping, Gregg shorthand, business machines, real estate, and investments.

Guest Speaker At ME Church

Guest speaker at the Albany Methodist Church this Sunday will be the recently appointed District Superintendent of the Bayview District of the Methodist Church, Dr. C. Maxwell Brown.

Dr. Brown was formerly pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church in Berkeley. He has also served as a Superintendent in another area of the Methodist Church. His message will be pertinent to the needs of people in today's world.

F. F. Foster, lay leader of the Albany Methodist Church, will have responsibility for the conduct of the worship service. The service begins at 10 a.m. Church school classes are held concurrently.

CHRYSLER PREVIEW

At a preview on Aug. 29, Chrysler-Plymout dealers and salesmen of Albany got their first look at the new 1968 lines of Plymouths, Chryslers and Imperials at a meeting in San Francisco. Invited to the preview were the sales and management personnel from H. L. Moore Chrysler-Plymouth of Albany.

Albany Adult School Opens In Two Weeks

The fall quarter of the Albany Adult school will begin on Monday, Sept. 11, and continue for 13 weeks through December 8. A wide assortment of day and evening classes will be offered.

Students who have not yet completed their secondary education should note that the Adult School conducts a program leading towards acquisition of a high school diploma. Counseling is available and part of this service is to locate previous school records, evaluate work experience, and recommend a course of study that would fulfill graduation requirements. Many students are surprised to find that through work experience, military duty, and job training, only a few courses are needed for a diploma.

Principal Robert G. Dennis reports the fall quarter will offer all interested students a varied curriculum with most courses applicable towards high school credit. Academic subjects include: English, mathematics, history, biology, and foreign languages. A wide selection of business, homemaking, art, and music classes will also be available through the Adult School. Students with specialized interests might prefer attending such courses as rapid reading, gardening, photography, electronics, psychology, drafting, pottery, real estate, or swimming.

Most classes will meet on the campus of Albany High school. Persons wishing further information should call 526-6441 and ask for the Adult Education Department or for an appointment with the principal.

th Hedges To Speak For Pix, TV Council

ve you ever felt that movies levision are a bit like the ther—everybody complaining t it, but no one doing any-about it?

keley Council has outlined gram allowing the churches, ls, civic and social organies to cooperate with them
ing something really con-ive about pictures and TV neral, and about the indi-l viewing habits practiced
rly. They have been fortu-in procuring Mrs. Ruth
, who for many years has the post of Motion Picture for the Congress of Par-and Teachers, Inc., to aid them in this task. She will speak at the Council's first fall meeting in the Recreation Hall of Calvary Presbyterian Church, corner of Milvia and Virginia Streets, Monday morning, Sept. 11, at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Hedges, an authority on film evaluation, is a dynamic and interesting speaker. She studied cinematography at UCLA and USC. Her movie reviews appear in the monthly California Parent-Teacher magazine. Those tho have heard Mrs. Hedges admire her verve and style; thus, her audience is in for a real treat. They will get the answer to such questions as: Will this film work with me or against me in the moral ethics I am trying to build into my child? Should the fact that the film is excellent artistically alter by approach to its evaluation as suitable for children? Will children grop up accepting brutality as normal because of the brutality seen on the screen? What can I do to help? How can I become a movie avant-garde without seeming a prude? It is important to all who must play the role of keepers-of-the-morals to know the answers to these and many more pertinent questions. Mrs. Hedges will help find these answers.

Mrs. Earl Sykes, president of the Council, has invited to this meeting the presidents and motion picture chairmen of PTA and PTC groups of this area.

Mrs. Charles Stuart, public chairman, will explain the essay contest sponsored by the council, and report on the children's summer matinees. Mrs. Ernest Miller, film approval chairman, will report and distribute the family viewing sheet, and Mrs. A. H. Todt will comment on fall TV programs. Mrs. Amos Doane, first vice president, will have charge of the program and will present the guest speaker.

Luncheon will be served by the executive board. This promises to be the kick off of an interesting year. Watch local papers for announcements of general meetings and previews.

LETTERS

Editor, the Times:

The members of Berkeley-Albany chapter, UNA-USA, are very grateful to our many fine sponsors for making our beautiful booth at the Albany Festival possible.

In particular we should mention the Albany Times, Thousand Oaks French Laundry, Scandia Imports, La China Poblana Restaurant, and Foreign Parts Auto Shop.

All of these business firms have sponsored us in previous years, so to all of you we say again, "Thank you most sincerely."

FLORENCE HARRIS,
President

Editor, the Times:

As of today, it's been 559 days since we found out that the Richfield Oil Co. had left us without a sewer outlet. In all that time we haven't been able to get any help from them.

I've noticed from reading the Times every week that our city officials just love to have their pictures in the paper cutting a ribbon to open a new business, etc.

If and when we ever get our sewer connected up again, I'm going to have a ribbon cutting ceremony too! All city officials will be invited. The only thing bothering me is "Which one of these publicity hounds shall I let cut the ribbon?"

Mary Ann McMahon Wed

Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Robbins
(Mary Ann McMahon)
with Flower Girl Julie Scalise

Pretty rites at St. Ambrose Catholic church Aug. 19 united in marriage Mary Ann McMahon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. McMahon of Gateview Avenue, and Dr. Charles E. Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Robbins of Tacoma, Wash.

The young couple traveled from the church to a Roaring 20s reception at the McMahon home in a vintage Model A decorated with flowers. Other members of the bridal party followed in two more flower-bedecked Model As.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory peau de soie empire gown with bodice and sleeves of reembroidered lace. Matching lace formed the inverted skirt pleat which fanned to a train. A crown of pearls and orange blossoms held her ivory veil. She carried lily of the valley and phalaenopsis orchids.

Mrs. Robert Di Julio of Spokane was matron of honor. Maid of honor was Miss Mary Ann Broz of Carmichael. Both wore green. Bridesmaids, who wore yellow, were Mrs. Grant Bullo of Tacoma, Miss Rita Piziali of El Cerrito and Miss Julie Nickerson of Oakland.

Their gowns were of georgette underlined with crepe with round crepe collars and deep hem borders of the same fabric. All wore matching old-fashioned half hats trimmed with roses and carried satin parasols trimmed with greens and roses.

Junior members of the wedding party included Martin Griffin II of El Sobrante, Julie Scalise of Oakland and Debbie Miller of San Jose, all grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Griffin of Albany.

Best man was Grant Bullo of Tacoma. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Robert T. McMahon II, student at Creighton University in Omaha and Michael McMahon of Albany, Robert DiJulio of Spokane and Gary Damaschino of Lafayette.

Miss Rita Piziali made dozens of satin roses for the wedding and assisted Mrs. Mary Ann Broz with the hats.

Miss Janie Koski, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and caught the bridal bouquet. The garter was caught by Michael Marcos.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink peau de soie frock with pink pearls embroidered on the bodice and matching coat with angel sleeves. The mother of the bridegroom wore beige brocade with an apricot-colored skirt panel.

Other out-of-town guests included the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Humle of Illinois; her aunt, Mrs. Neilo Koski and daughter, Janie, from DeKalb, Ill.; the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hestand of Tacoma; a friend, Dale Rees, also from Tacoma, and Jim Jessel, cousin of the bridegroom.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left on a wedding trip to the mountains. They will live in Tacoma, where the bridegroom is an attorney.

A graduate of St. Joseph's High school, the bride received her BS degree in science from Gonzaga University, where she attended the School of Law two years and was a member of Spurs, Ski club, California club and the American Law Students association.

Her husband attended Fife High school, and received his BA degree from the University of Puget Sound before receiving his doctor's degree in jurisprudence from Gonzaga School of Law. He was affiliated with the American Law Student association.
